GB ACTION

WELCOME TO THIS WONDERFUL WORLD

Welcome to another delicious helping of all your favourite Game Boy reviews, previews and gossip. Nobody does it better!

Alex Lee

Editor

We're well into spring now and the general feeling is one of optimism. Judging by the current size of the hole in the ozone layer, the GB Action kids are hopeful of at least a three day summer this year. Will they be right? Only time will tell. Alex is well into springtime as it heralds the return of the dandelion – his favourite flower.

Marc Keating

Art Editor

Marc is particularly fond of the return of longer days as it means he has much more time to look out of the window at all the pretty daffodils in the vicinity. He's certainly a flower child with his fondness for 60s bands such as Pink Floyd and Fleetwood Mac. He insists that his main goal in life is to one day own a national chain of florists.

Rob Sharp

Deputy Art Editor

Rob's fondness for springtime lies in the fact he knows his trusty broly can be left at home as the heavens won't open on him. This also signifies that his colleagues here in the office will be spared his temper when he gets soaked. Rob seemed to miss the point of the question when asked about his favourite thing about spring. He simply answered, "the rolls!"

Deputy Editor

Andy was unavailable for comment on this matter but we know for a fact that Andy loves everything and everybody in springtime. We can also exclusively reveal his sordid past as a flower arranger in which he mercilessly killed several tulips over a number of months by starving them of their nutritional needs.

Andy Sharp

Rob Smith

Production Editor

Little Rob is more a winter person actually. This means he can spend his Saturdays on the terraces at Sheffield United's games. The outcome is still the same, a draw or a loss, occasionally a win but there's a difference in summertime. He's not left cold, wet and depressed because there isn't any footy! We doff our caps to Rob's undying love for his footie team. Maybe his perseverance will be rewarded if they remain in the premiership.

Jason Spiller

Springtime for Jase consists of walking his wife and kids in local parks. Family man Spills likes to take things as easy as a Cadbury's Caramel at this time of year. The all-round good guy has access to some of Britain's finest beaches as he lives almost as far south as France. Rumour has it that he may be visiting sunny Bournemouth for an extended working holiday soon.

PURE COLOUR GAM

You may have noticed that there aren't as many video games mags on the shelves as before. The pump ones bite the dust, but the ream ones (such as GB Action) just get stronger.

Nintendo®

HOTLINE

Arguably the biggest ever Game Boy release, The Legend Of Zelda – Link's Awakening, is selling by the truck load. The kids at the Nintendo Hotline are well into it and because of this they're keen to share all their hints, tips and cheats with us. Check the latest Zelda stuff and more on pages 48-49.

06/NEWS

Two of the world's best software houses, Gametek and Ubisoft, have some big, big releases in the pipeline. We tell you what they are and when to expect them. Check out the latest Gallup chart to see just how well that game you bought is selling. All of this and more on pages 6-7.

08/REVIEWS

Scrap on! Listen up fight fans! There's something for everyone this month. Scrapping in urban America with Spiderman And The X-Men, fighting in bars in Championship Pool, pagga-ing in Riddick Bowe Boxing and free-for-alling in WCW The Main Event.

17/FEATURES

The Super Game Boy is here to stay. Game Boy games can now be played on telly screens in colour with a little help from the SNES and this rather special adaptor. Are Game Boy games gonna go all retro? And there's more Manga than you can shake a demon womb at.

22/TIPS, GUIDES

Andy Sharp grapples with a big park full o' dinosaurs yet again. Yep, the gates of Jurassic Park are finally locked up this month. There's also a veritable overload of hints, tips and cheats from all over the world. For the best Game Boy guidance, don't look any further than here.

56/LIBRARY

Five, yes five, pages packed full of the most important Game Boy releases currently available. Each game is given a mini review and there's a reminder of the score it got when originally reviewed. GB Action is Game Boy only, and we play the games to the death – believe the scores.

The second part of GB Action's rather special football competition in which you can win a load of official World Cup souvenirs can be found right here. Even Chris Kamara of Sheffield United is into it. Why not have a go yourself? Be a footy manager for the build up to the World Cup – it's a laugh!

FROM THE GAME BOY WORLD

For the most informative news on the wonderful world of the Nintendo Game Boy, look no further than these two pages!

Gametek Double Attack

Software giants Gametek have reinforced their undoubted faith in the Game Boy market by announcing the impending release of two hot new titles. Both games are due out this summer, with Tarzan leading the way.

Featuring vines, snakes, voodoo witch doctors and Dr Livingstone (I presume) lookalikes, the king of the jungle will be comin' at us in an intense platform adventure. The other release could well turn out to be a watershed in the Game Boy market. Packing Virgin's Jeep

Jamboree and Gremlin's Dirty Drivin' onto a single cart, Gametek are boldly going where no software house has gone before.

Costing £24.99, the usual retail price for a single game, this double act will surely rank as a 'must buy' when it hits the shelves in a couple of months' time.

Both games are corkers in their own right - Dirty Drivin' is a Micro Machines style racer whereas Jeep Jamboree is a 3D rough terrain driving extravaganza.

Respect is due to Gametek for producing a genuine cart bargain. In the face of increasingly stiff competition from hyped consoles, the Game Boy needs a boost. This venture by Gametek will, if there's any justice in the world, provide it and shake the rest of the software industry into producing a flood of Game Boy two-in-one titles. It has to make sense.

Check out future GB Actions for more coverage.

IT'S A NET ATTACK!

Every 13 year old girl with any idea of life in general would like to be a TV presenter. Jules, of The Net, already is. In case you missed the first episode, Net Attack is the part of the aforementioned show that takes an irreverent look at the world of video games. Taking in such glamorous locations as Poole and Stonehenge, grunge girl Jules lists her likes as being hot sausage rolls, The Levellers and her pet spaniel, Goat.

According to Net Attack's producer Dan Clapson, Jules is already being sought by television companies all over the gaff because of her outrageously bubbly personality. This show's the best thing since the first series of Gamesmaster!

The star of the show is Jules - a 13 year old with more attitude than Tank Girl.

MADDEN TOUCHES DOWN

The guy who has touched down more than once on the SNES, John Madden is to carry on his quality tradition with the first ever American footy game on the Game Boy.

Ubisoft's have enjoyed success with previous Game Boy releases such as Star Wars, Empire Strikes Back and F1 Pole Position. This calibre coupled with Madden's name should make for a fine product.

Game Boy owners have been crying out for an American footy sim since the dinosaurs ruled the earth. It looks like Ubisoft are going to answer that call later this year.

Next month's GB Action has an exclusive preview of John Madden. We'll soon see whether the portable palm pleaser can cope with a simulation of one of the world's most complicated sports.

Coke's marketing chief, Sergio Zyman, recently unveiled a new range of soft drinks. Fruitopia is a range of 'New Age' drinks designed to appeal to the ever increasing mass of soft drink consumers.

The message that Zyman wants to convey is that of refreshment of mind and body by drinking his products. With a strong emphasis on the use of natural ingredients, Britvic's sales and marketing director Michael Utteridge agrees with Zyman that 'New Ageism' in drinks is the way forward.

'New Ageism is... an appealing concept,' commented Utteridge. 'My money is on the less mystical fruit-based drinks with natural ingredients.'

This new launch heralds yet another big-time battle between the giants of the soft drinks industry. Today, thanks to the endorsement of waif-like models and their vain wannabes, sales of Perrier water are booming. Will tomorrow be the day of the mind refreshing Pinklemonade Euphoria as drank by new age travellers?

MOVE OVER, LUIGI!

A couple of great watches came our way the other day. Zeon of London are now selling a StarWing game watch and a Super Mario Kart talking watch.

The pick of the two time-pieces has to be the latter. In the style of the Thomas The Tank Engine series, the Super Mario Kart watch has an outer casing of Mario in a high speed racing pose which flips open to reveal the watch face.

The 'Move over Luigi' voice sample, however, is what helps the Mazza watch make the transition from good to great. StarWing, a great FX chip game on the SNES, isn't exactly a world beater on a watch face.

Watch out!
Get it?
Watch out!
What's the time?
It's time to get ill.
Move over, Luigi.

YOGI

Yogi Bear's gonna be comin' at us next month, and it's not a moment too soon! Empire's platform bonanza had the whole GB Action team foaming at the mouth when it came in for preview a couple of months back.

The Hanna Barbera cartoon hero was featured on the cover of issue 23 and will be given the full review treatment in the June issue.

Right: With only four limbs Spiderman can still hold onto walls and climb. What a hero he is!

To this day Spiderman is still among the hierarchy of superheroes having starred in numerous movies and comic books all around the world.

The only hero to have surpassed old Spidey in recent times is that all round do-gooder Batman.

Rescue is the order of the day as you guide Spidey swinging from web to web in the search for Wolverine, Cyclops, Storm and Gambit. The X-Men as they're known are in big trouble.

Kidnapped by Arcade and taken to his bizarre amusement park, the only hope for the X-Men is the rescue attempt you are about to undertake.

Your adventure through Arcade's theme park takes on level after level of danger and terror. Little does he know but the whole thing is a set up to wipe Spiderman and his buddies from the face of the Earth. Why do these superheroes never meet pleasant and friendly people?

ONCE INSIDE, SPIDER-MAN QUICKLY DISCOVERS THE SHACKLED X-MEN. BUT AS HE BEGINS TO RELEASE THEM, HE HEARS THE VOICE OF ARCADE OVER THE LOUDSPEAKER.

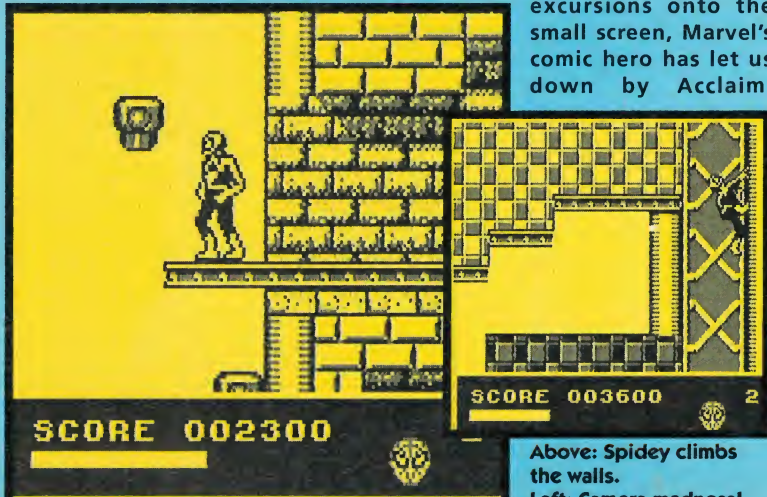

Above: Some startling narrative, the likes of which may never be seen again.

Beginning your quest at the perimeter of the complex you will have to put paid to Arcade's security system. This involves swinging and leaping your way around making sure each and every Security Eye is put out of action.

The task is made a little more difficult as there is a set sequence for them to be destroyed.

After the mammoth tasks Spidey has been put through in his earlier excursions onto the small screen, Marvel's comic hero has let us down by Acclaim.

"The graphics are a little basic to say the least"

A superhero should never be named after an insect that sends a shiver down even the toughest of people's spines. Spiderman is that hero and the webbed man is back.

SPIDERMAN AND THE X

Whereas the last Spiderman outing was a challenge from the bowels of hell, this time justice most certainly hasn't been done.

The graphics are a little basic to say the least. The gameplay is, I'm afraid, impossible to detect. Although Spidey doesn't have too complex a control system, actually getting it to work is like trying to run a Dodo battery farm.

After Spidey has entered the Park you are given the choice of choosing a different character. One of the X-Men can be used to fight through any level. The park has been designed by the evil Arcade to be the final battle ground for Spidey and his cronies.

Beginning this platform romp from hell with four lives it's up to you exactly which character takes on which stage.

To be honest, however, once you've got inside the amusement park if you can be bothered going any further, you're much tougher and patient than I am.

It took me almost half an hour to leap from one wall to another.

Again, it's simple enough in theory but under no circumstances should something so simple become such a task.

There are still elements of the previous Spiderman ventures here, with large complicated levels involving the webbed one crawling up walls and swinging to seemingly unreachable platforms but this episode just has an overwhelming feeling of it being a little patchy.

There are no continues and it doesn't incorporate a password system so after playing a game you will seldom want to continue your struggle. It will all seem to have been for nothing.

The tune which plays throughout the course of battle is unbelievable. Unbelievable in the sense that you can't find a simple hook to hum along to. All in all it's a poor effort all round.

It's the age old story I'm afraid – a little time and effort spent by the developers on the fine tuning could have transformed this clanger into the epics we've previously seen from the Spiderman camp.

Maybe Spiderman could do with a new lease of life.

Perhaps a new major Hollywood movie or even a TV series or two could be the order of the day.

Hey, even Superman has been brought into the nineties.

The high quality of the previous Spidey games left me astounded. I jumped at the chance to review the latest offering and have found myself losing sleep over this impossibly sub-standard cart.

Admittedly, it had a lot to live up to but it just couldn't come close to its predecessors. Maybe that was the problem.

I could barely believe how mind numbingly tedious the whole X-Men experience was.

Virtually no gameplay, average graphics, poor sound and no passwords or continues makes this more than a little disappointing – stick to the previous two.

If you're after a Spiderman cart, look no further than Spiderman 2 or 3. This one, I'm afraid, smells of poo.

Ladeez and gentlemen, welcome to tonight's main event. In the blue corner we present the undisputed champion of the world... Riddick "Big Daddy" Bowe. And in the red corner, the challenger - you.

Boxing, it's a spectacle. There's razzmatazz, rousing music, hype, Don King and if you're Herbie Hide and Michael Bentt, then there are punch ups before they reach the ring. Ain't it just great!

Riddick "Big Daddy" Bowe defeated Evander "The Real Deal" Holyfield on November 13, 1992 to realise his childhood dream of being champion of the world. Now you have the opportunity to recreate his progress through the ranks of challengers to a shot at the title.

It was thought by many that Bowe would rule the roost of heavyweight boxing for some time to come (or at least until Mike Tyson was released from jail). His demeanour, engaging personality and astute mind complemented his undoubted talent in the ring.

Things have since gone slightly awry. He lost his title to a leaner, meaner Holyfield after relinquishing one version to Lennox Lewis without a punch being thrown. Still, the merchandising bandwagon was rolling and the computer game appeared. Extreme have even fitted it on to the Game Boy!

So, does it pack the explosive punch of it's namesake? Well, it certainly has a meaty right hook and a few effective little jabs!

The first option is to choose which one of the 25 boxers you want to fight. This is a good way to become accustomed to the controls since you can play as Bowe (RB) against a lowly, weaker challenger.

Each of the 25 boxers is given a small biography. This adds a little individuality to the computer controlled characters who are usually anonymous in this style of game.

RIDDICK BOXING

The best option though is the opportunity to begin a career in heavyweight boxing for yourself. Decide how you want to look from the eight different heads (honest!) and then choose your skin colour with black and white, not surprisingly, being the options!

So, with these variables sorted you can set up your power, speed and stamina ratings. Whether you choose to concentrate on one particular area of strength or go for a more rounded fighter is up to you.

It's now time to hit the circuit. Firmly ensconced as 25 in the world, the road to a title shot against "Big Daddy" looks a very long way indeed.

Win a bout, however, and you have a few training options. If more power is what you need then a work out with the weights might be in order or try the isotonic drinks to boost your condition.

"Choose from eight different heads and your skin colour, honest!"

So, to the fights. RB's Boxing has a side on view of the two combatants. Manual dexterity and a quick eye for an opening are vital. The range of punches is fairly simple. There's the jab, the hook and the upper cut. A quick tap on the A and B buttons cause hits with the right and left hand respectively.

Energy bars on the bottom of the screen show how much strength each fighter has remaining. A pummeling from your opponent or too many missed punches by yourself will wear you down quickly. A quick spell of defence with your guard up will provide the breather needed to restore a bit of energy.

Take a hard punch with your energy at its lowest ebb and it's time to meet the canvas. It's then a scramble to get to your feet ready to face another barrage of hammer fisted blows.

An overhead view of the ring is featured above the main play area. Simple but effective, it shows your position in the ring and can give an indication of where to move to try and pin your opponent to the ropes.

Each of the 12 three minute rounds is scored individually and is accurate in its interpretation of how well each fighter has done.

Heads turn under the impact of a crushing upper cut and sweat flies on to the canvas. Even the arrogance has been included as some of the more confident fighters bait you to come and get them.

The graphics are well detailed and work very well even in the confusion of a close quarters battle.

The controls are responsive enough but they may seem sluggish at times. This is because you naturally respond to being beaten viciously around the head by being a little stunned for a few seconds. This may seem a tad annoying while you try to battle back from the verge of collapse but it's certainly very realistic.

A two player option allows you to pummel your pals. What more fun can you possibly want? This all adds up to make RB's Boxing a top game and without a doubt the best boxing sim available.

RB's Boxing is nearly as physical as the real thing. The 12 three minute rounds can be quite tiring. Alright, so you don't come out of it with cuts and bruises but you can certainly get a sweat on.

There's quite a challenge here too. With 25 opponents to see off there's an awful lot of duckin' and divin' to be done. I was quite amazed at the accuracy of the scoring and of the ability of the computer controlled opponents who are intelligent and give a really good fight.

My only concern is that RB won't have a tremendous amount of lasting appeal although the two player option certainly helps.

All in all it's a super simulation which fans of the sport will absolutely love.

W.C.W. THE MAIN EVENT

Why oh why do people still insist on releasing these wrestling sims? Isn't the world ready for something a little more entertaining yet?

After having suffered countless hours of TV hell while sitting through yet another show involving blokes with perms as wet as the Pacific Ocean I'd had enough.

WCW, WWF, what's the difference? It all looks the same to me. As do all wrestling games. This is no exception to the rule. Incorporating a fair few moves, punches and holds you would expect it to pack as much punch as Rick Rude himself.

This brings me onto another subject. Why do these wrestlers all have ridiculous names? Vader, Johnny B Badd, Sting? What kind of names are these! I'm sorry but how can any self respecting person take these pantomime artists seriously?

Anyway, getting back on track again WCW has nine players for you to choose from. Each has their own individual strengths and weaknesses. I always chose Rick Rude as he seemed to be too tough for everyone. The options allow you to define the length of the bout from five to 15 minutes. You also get the chance to set the skill level to your standards. Unfortunately this is where the 'fun' ended for me. The game itself just didn't float my boat so to speak. Sure it played quite well. Sure it scrolled fluently both inside and outside the ring. The thing I found about this game was its lack of spice and originality.

"Why do these wrestlers all have ridiculous names?"

Graphically too it lacked a little something. The wrestlers just didn't look menacing. At least some time had been spent trying to make the players features different. No two fighters looked the same unlike a few of the WWF clan. The one thing going for it is the computer fighters look like they are trying to kill each other unlike their TV counterparts.

With several blows which you can land on an opponent using a pad and button combination you'd think it had something going for it.

The only thing I found was some frantic pressing of the buttons seemed to have some damaging effect. Not much skill is needed I'm afraid to say.

Unfortunately, with this cart being excessively simple to play it became very boring very quickly indeed. The only part of the entire game I could even raise the tiniest of smiles at was the leap from the corner of the ring onto your opponent. It never failed.

As a result of all the downfalls of this cart I still haven't the slightest desire to get myself a wet perm and a ridiculous grin. Maybe next time.

Whoever invented the pathetic panto show known nowadays as WWF or WCW is a man I'd hate to meet. With all of the showmanship and bravado put forward by its stars I'd like to be entertained for at least a millisecond. Incidentally, I tried not to use my prejudice against this game and I believe I've done a sterling job. If this was enjoyable and challenging then it would have got a higher score. It isn't the worst wrestling sim around but it's far from the best. It basically hasn't got an original element to its look and gameplay and this is where it slips up. Gameplay is easy to suss but it soon becomes incredibly dull. The names of the fighters are more entertaining than the sport itself.

REVIEW

If this sells as many copies as it deserves to, then smokey rooms full of men with b.o. and five o'clock shadows will be obsolete.

CHAMPIONSHIP POOL

Tetris and Warioland have taken a back seat as Championship Pool grips the GB Action kids.

Game Boy games are rarely famed for their complexity. Mindscape's Championship Pool throws so many options at ya that initial reactions are to pack the cart back up in favour of something altogether less awkward.

Often, however, the least instant games tend to become the most enjoyable. This is certainly the case with Championship Pool. Before you know it, the flicking between the set spin, set power and the zoom in zoom out becomes subconscious.

All the action takes place from an overhead view. A rotating sphere ('phantom ball') smaller than the other balls which indicates the direction in which you intend to hit the white can be positioned anywhere on the table. Tapping the A button activates it, holding down B while moving the D-pad fine tunes it and another tap on A sends the cue ball towards the object ball.

If there's any doubt about the predicted path of the cue ball, you may zoom in. You are treated to a close up of the relevant part of the table and should be left in little doubt as to whether your shot's gonna hit or miss. Hitting B when not touching the D-pad brings up the set power menu to give further control over the shot. All this sounds complicated but it's easier than falling off the slippiest of logs. After having lined up your shot, the feeling of satisfaction when the ball drops transcends most Game Boy experiences. The graphical portrayal of this is eerily similar to the way the ball rattles in the jaws before disappearing out of view on real-life pool tables. When in play, the balls' numbers can only be seen when zooming in. This problem is overcome in zoom out mode with the Pythonesque appearance of two big arrows - one over the object ball, another above the pocket.

"Missing the ball only once may lead to defeat."

Above: Zoom out to be treated to a bird's eye view of the whole of the table. Useful for planning ahead.

Below: It's impossible to get away from 12" re-mixes these days.

The toughest test of them all is the championship. You play a computer opponent but you don't see his shots. All you get is a screen saying how many balls he's potted. In the latter stages, missing the ball only once may lead to defeat.

The playability can't really be faulted, although the zoom out view can strain even the keenest of eyes. What makes Mindscape's Championship Pool so good, however, is the realism and attention to detail.

The balls move fairly convincingly and the power and spin meters make accurate differences to the result of your shots.

Championship Pool fares well in terms of longevity too. Not only are there plenty of authenticity adding options, but there are sufficient sub games to challenge the life span of any battery regardless of whether it's black and gold or not.

There are hours of gameplay to be had here. You rack 'em - I'll stack 'em.

THE WORLD OF THE GAME BOY

As predicted in the first ever issue of GB Action two years ago, the colour Game Boy has finally arrived – in a manner of speaking. On these two pages, GB Action reveals Nintendo's newest, most amazing product.

COLOUR GAMING

Unveiled by Nintendo on March 14, the Super Game Boy enables Game Boy games to be played on television screens in colour. The one catch for Game Boy owners is that it only works through a SNES.

Pedantically speaking, the colour Game Boy is a misnomer in that it isn't actually a Game Boy with a colour screen. Nintendo have obviously thought of that when deciding upon its name. The Super Game Boy suits it nicely as it implies Game Boy and SNES elements which is, of course, entirely true.

The 'cynical marketing ploy' versus 'a reward to loyal Nintendo users' debate will undoubtedly rear its head from this day forth. It's obvious that an affordable colour Game Boy is still completely out of the question, so a compromise has been reached and a device created to go half way towards what many Game Boy owners would like to see.

In harsh monetary terms, a Game Boy user who wants to play his games in colour will have to fork out $59.99 for the Super Game Boy (SGB) and a further £99.99 for a SNES – a massive rip off. It is not yet clear when a British SGB will materialise, but it launches in America on June 6. If import copies become available, expect to pay more than the above US recommended retail price (around £40).

So is the SGB of use to Game Boy owners, or just another money making scheme by Nintendo? This question needs to be addressed from several angles. Judging by our latest survey results, the vast majority of British Game Boy owners don't have SNESs as well.

The main reasons for this are probably cost and the fact that the Game Boy is the portable palm pleaser whereas the SNES is of no use when not connected to a television set or monitor.

Every Game Boy game that has ever been sold has been monochrome, but to every Game Boy owner that has bought one doesn't care one iota. Any criticisms are invariably to do with gameplay

POOL SHARKS

The colours and borders can be customised, so Tarzan can be a nice brown, with green vegetation.

Dirty Drivin' would be considerably more dirty in colour. Brown mud, grey track and red car. Sorted.

At last! Blond and dark haired wrestlers will be easily distinguishable. Kiss that canvas!

Coming SOON

TECH SPEC - What is it?

A cartridge sized adaptor for the 16Mbit SNES allowing over 350 Game Boy games, including unique proprietary Nintendo games, to be played in full colour on television screens.

When is it out?

June 6, 1994 (in America).

How much will it cost?

MSRP $59.99.

How does it work?

When a Game Boy cart is inserted into the SGB, it's transformed from a 2"x 2" mono game into a multi-coloured image on any size TV screen complete with stereo sound.

Highlights:

More than doubles the SNES library with Game Boy titles. Transforms Game Boy cartridges into colour video games. Allows players to customise each game by choosing colours and designing borders. Features stereo sound when played on televisions with stereo sound.

Colour?

Different animated, decorative borders can be placed around the central gameplay screen, either by selecting one of several pre-stored designs or creating one through a paint type program. New Super Game Boy games will be able to support up to 256 colours.

The Colour Game Boy: All You Need To Know

The Nintendo colour board could be the most important piece of hardware for the owner of a Game Boy. It's a cartridge sized adaptor for the SNES, allowing over 350 Game Boy games, including unique proprietary Nintendo games, to be played in full colour on television screens.

This is What it Could Be Like in Colour...

How wrong we were! On the left is Jason Spiller, our Editorial correspondent. What a boy!

THE GAME BOY

and longevity rather than the fact that, surprise, surprise, the new purchase is just as black and white as the last.

Is the SGB, therefore, really necessary or just a luxury item for those lucky enough to be able to afford a Game Boy and a SNES. Surely a SNES owner would rather spend ninety quid on a couple of recommended SNES carts than a Game Boy cart and a SGB? I certainly would - although admittedly I'd be curious.

A bizarre situation that the dawn of the SGB throws up is a new generation of SNES owners who'll be able to buy Game Boy carts without having to splash out on the hardware. I can't, however, imagine too many SNES owners buying 1Mbit Game Boy carts rather than 16Mbit SNES ones, regardless of the difference in price.

It's a cliché, but only time will tell whether Nintendo end up making potloads of cash from the sales of a product that's a brilliant idea in theory but a rather nougatty one in practice.

Left: Ms Pac Man is soon to be followed by another old classic game - Donkey Kong. It'll be the first 256 colour Game Boy release.

IDLE SPECULATION

Right: This is how we thought the colour Game Boy might look. Wrong!

The first issue of GB Action, way back in June 1992, imagined the colour Game Boy to be the same unit but with colour capabilities. We knew it would be in colour eventually, but not that a SNES and a telly would be needed to play the games. Maybe in a few years, when technology takes yet another step forward, a Game Boy with the capability of colour on its own screen will be released. Until then, think yourselves lucky that the Game Boy is as good as it is even in black and white!

FROM: Elite OUT: June

The World Cup is coming soon in case you hadn't noticed. Not surprisingly there's a veritable flood of footie related games about to hit the shelves, all vying for the top spot.

Not wanting to be left out of these shenanigans, World Cup fever has struck Elite and now they are throwing their two penn'orth into the ring with the imminent release of World Cup Striker.

After enjoying quite phenomenal success on the SNES, selling over a quarter of a million units, Elite have done the decent thing and converted Striker onto the Game Boy. A rather adventurous project you may think but nonetheless Elite have adopted a 'nothing ventured, nothing gained' philosophy and here's a preview of what's in store.

Can this massive success be duplicated on the 'Boy? Only time will tell of course but there are plenty of eye opening features to, er, open your eyes and get that adrenalin pumping ready for the kick off!

Above: About the only way England will win the World Cup. The fans go wild celebrating this occasion.

Striker doesn't just focus on the World Cup competition as played out in the States this summer. There will also be the opportunity to compete in a World League and a World Championship as well as the less intense but nonetheless important friendly matches.

A simple to use icon driven menu system allows you to get through

World Cup trivia

- The first World Cup was awarded to Uruguay in 1930 by FIFA President Jules Rimet.
- A massive 3.6 million tickets will be available for the 1994 competition.
- Over 180 nations entered the competition and have been whittled down to 24.
- 26.7 billion people in 167 countries watched the 1990 World Cup on TV.
- The '94 final is expected to have a TV audience of around two billion.
- England haven't won the World Cup or anything else for that matter since 1966.
- Reigning European champions Denmark won't be in the States, neither will France (tee hee!) courtesy of Israel.
- Between matches bands of 1000 watt halogen lights will be placed six to eight feet above the grass in the Silverdome to compensate for the lack of natural light.
- The World Cup is brill 'cos it means a month of footie on TV.

all the different options quickly and easily. This helps you to get to the nitty gritty of team and player selection with the minimum of fuss so you're soon up and running.

So, who's going to be taking part in all this footie related fun and frolics? You have a roster of 24 teams to choose from. Each has a squad of 16 players and each player is given individual ratings for after-touch, ball control, tackling ability, passing and heading.

What really makes the squad editing facility a top feature is the fact that the players are real! The English squad (yes, England, who didn't qualify in real life!) contains Gazza, Platt, Flowers and other regulars. With the individual ratings you can see just how well Gazza compares alongside the likes of Baggio and Gullit. Since there's no tongue size rating the Geordie boy probably loses out to his Italian and Dutch opponents!

There're also a number of different formations which your team can adopt. From the standard 4-4-2 you can try the sweeper system, or an aggressive 4-2-4. Within this framework you can also choose to adopt an open style, all out attack, defence and even a ploy to attack on the break. A style and a formation for every occasion!

So on to the game itself. It's a vertically scrolling pitch seen from a 3D perspective. The sprites look well detailed, move smoothly and are well animated when in motion.

To keep your interest flowing there are three difficulty levels, the fastest being the easiest level and the slower speed requiring more skill, control and precision.

So, win the World Cup on the easy level and that's only the first obstacle out of the way. These options should offer plenty of challenge and variety to the standard footie sim.

With an adequate control method and the interest of having recognised players on board Striker should reach the heights hit so spectacularly by the SNES version.

Football mania really is hitting the software market throwing a number of games into direct competition against each other. Which ones come out on top and which are the Englands of the genre will be seen when they all come up for review in the next few months.

Check out the reviews to be trusted in GB Action. ROB SMITH

Lucle boxing clever

Left: An early sketch of one of the options open to Vic Tokai to use on the game box. Of the three drawings, which do you prefer?

Right: A shaft of light and the Lucle speeding towards the hexagon strewn planet. Quite impressive.

Left: The Lucle surveys the planet on which it's stranded. Destination outer space, but it's a long journey.

Above: Lifts raise the Lucle on to new platforms and then bridges convey it to new areas.

Lucle, odd name for a game. Odd game come to think of it. But that's good odd, not bad odd. Different odd would be more appropriate. Very different!

Vic Tokai's premier release throws another puzzle game into the melting pot of Game Boy brain benders. Although not due out until September we present an in depth look at what to expect when it finally hits the shelves.

So, a Lucle. What is a Lucle? What do you do with it? What does it look like? Does it bite? Do you eat it? Just what on earth is it? And just how many questions can we ask?

Well, it's not on earth for a start, hence the sci-fi type of name, perhaps. It seems that a Lucle is a kind of space probe-cum-planetary explorer-cum-er, thing. About as clear as mud so far?!

So what do you do with it? Probe? Explore? All of the above? Erm, yes, sort of!

Basically, you have to move the Lucle around the planet on which you've landed and reach the exit. What's very different about this simple task is the use of perspective and the hexagonal layout.

The Lucle itself is an intriguing little device. It looks like two semi-spheres linked by a pole! Get the picture? If not take a peek at the screen shots, that should help!

Above: As time ticks down it's a dash for the exit and stage complete.

LUCLE

OUT: September

Above: More aliens, not surprisingly curious about this strange object.

Anyway, the Lucle moves itself by having one of the semispheres stationary and the pole, with the other hemisphere attached, spinning around. The moving hemisphere is then planted (by pressing the A button) and the other hemisphere begins to spin! This mode of moving allows the Lucle to effectively 'walk' across the terrain.

Sounds complicated, I know, but it isn't! No, honestly it's dead easy, just erm...very different.

The challenge and the interest then comes from negotiating the different types of terrain. Mountains and caverns have to be crossed in order to reach the exit. Use of the various bridges and lifts is therefore necessary.

Left: It's there, the end stage. The Lucle slips across the ice and lands in safety. Above: Yet more aliens unsure about the Lucle!

As you progress through the different stages the exits become more and more awkward to locate. Each area is quite large so there is plenty of searching to be done and, of course, there's a time limit.

In a neat change from the usual time restrictions each stage is given a 'par' time. Complete the stage within par and the seconds which you've saved get added to the par for the next course. This allows you to accumulate seconds over the easier courses and these can then then provide something of a safety net when it starts to get difficult.

So what other obstacles has the Lucle to overcome? Sheets of ice can cause tremendous problems. Care, skill and timing are needed to prevent the Lucle from sliding wayward before manoeuvring it to the safety of solid ground.

Hexagons!

Above: What's this then? Erm, a drum kit? No. A dumbbell? No. Oh, let's use it as a stool then! Left: Skid and slide on the ice.

Below: The Lucle must move around the solid blocks. This needs lots of care.

● Tesserae: Very odd name hides a solitaire variant puzzle game from Gametek.

● Splitz: Very odd name hides a picture making puzzle game.

ROB SMITH

Ms PacMan - The Retro Rev

Nintendo, creators of the Game Boy, may well have kick started a new era in GB gamedom by releasing Ms Pac Man. I certainly hope so.

When told that GB Action would be featuring Ms Pac Man, publisher Don Lewis had a double take. 'Pac Man? That's a blast from the past isn't it?' were his first words when he realised he'd heard correctly.

He was right. The first Pac Man machine appeared in Britain in 1980. A couple of years later the circular yellow hero who scoffed power pills and ghosts all day had a companion. She came in the shape of another power pill scoffer, the only difference being that she wore ribbons where her hair would have been were she not a yellow circle.

The year Pac Man appeared was when arcade machines were comin' at us all over the gaff. A generation of kids who had had to make do with playing football and Action Man all day were given a whole new lease of life. I was one of them - those were the days!

A recent visit to a couple of programmers (see feature on page 42) showed that the Game Boy is capable of comfortably supporting games much bigger than even Zelda! The question is, however, do we really want this?

Ask any 'old' (21 plus) games player and he'll tell you that the old uns are always the best. Admittedly, nostalgia tends to colour judgement but in terms of simplicity, addictiveness and game-play games such as Pac Man and Space Invaders were classics and will remain so for all time.

Is it therefore time for a renaissance? In today's age where fashion, films, music and even football strips are all heavily influenced by recent history it's only a matter of time before the computer and video game industry takes a leaf from the aforementioned entertainment media and goes all retro.

In its present form, the Game Boy, if we are to be honest, will never be able to support the likes of software that we've all seen on other, more expensive formats. So why not start reproducing classic games from the past that many readers may not have even heard of, let alone played?

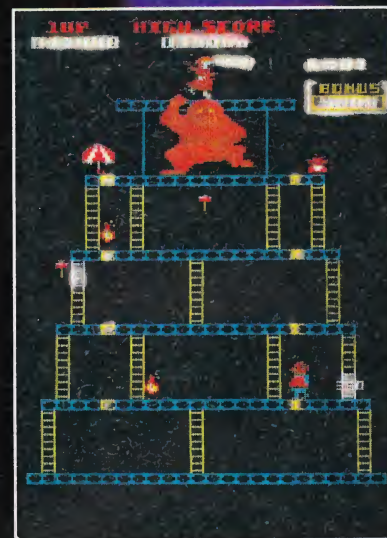

So far, the only classic arcade games that have Left: Frogger was a simple, linear single screen challenge that attracted the punters like flies around a carcass.

A selection of some of the old classics where gameplay was everything. Clockwise from top left: Asteroids, Donkey Kong, Defender and Galaxians. To be good at these games took plenty of 10p pieces and a lot of stick from onlookers.

The good old days

The arcade machines below are only a tiny sample of the classics that were hitting Britain in the late seventies and early eighties. To put the era into some sort of context, there's also a list of some of the best bands of the time.

The 10p Years - Six Of The Best

Arcade Machine	Company	Band Of The Year	Year
Breakout	Atari	Sex Pistols	1977
Space Invaders	Taito	The Clash	1978
Galaxians	Midway	Boomtown Rats	1979
Pac Man	Namco	The Specials	1980
Robotron	Williams	Adam & The Ants	1981
Gorf	Taito	Duran Duran	1982

Other corks: Centipede, Millipede, Galaga, Tank Commander, Battlezone, Missile Command, Star Wars, Donkey Kong, Phoenix, Scramble, Defender.

Defender: The newsagents I used to work for had one of these. You can guess what I spent my wages on.

Leading rival?

this feature are just begging to be converted onto the portable palm pleaser.

Every classic arcade game deserves to be seen on the Game Boy. The reasons for this are numerous. For a start, the ones that are left standing are all still immensely popular.

They're all bursting at the bolts with game-play and addictiveness. The graphics and sounds are simplistic, thus reproducing the feel of them on the Game Boy would be putty in the hands of talented programmers. Let's be honest, no-one buys the Game Boy because of its graphical pro prowess or its sound capabilities. Even on the best and most recent releases the sound is invariably turned off anyway.

Nintendo, creators of the Game Boy, may well have kick started a new era in GB gamedom by releasing Ms Pac Man. I certainly hope so.

Right: It certainly was, for millions of arcade players all around the world. What a superb game!

What's it all about?

Breakout – The original brick smashing game had coloured strips across the screen to create the illusion of colour. Released as Alleyway on the Game Boy. Controlled with a 'paddle' – a radio tuner-like knob.

Robotron – A bit like Total Carnage except without the scrolling and a multitude of different levels, the highlight being the one featuring blue enemies with enormous pulsating brains. Controlled by two joysticks.

Donkey Kong – The original platform game featuring a simplified Mario (his first ever appearance!) on a building site dodging barrels and oil drums. Soon to be released on the Game Boy! Controlled by a joystick and a fire button.

Battlezone – A wonderful vector graphics (as used on the Star Wars arcade machine) treat with see-through tanks and perspectivised flying saucers. Controlled by two joysticks with fire buttons on top.

Centipede – One of the most frantic arcade games ever. A horizontal shoot 'em up with a difference – your shooter could squirm its way up the screen. Available on the Game Boy. Controlled with a track ball and a fire button.

Millipede – A later, more complex version of the above with vastly improved graphics. The control system was the same but with optional autofire.

Punter LOVE

The original Pac Man machine, featuring the four ghosts Blinky, Pinky, Inky and Clyde always seemed to have a louder speaker than all the others in the arcade. This inevitably attracted a healthy crowd of onlookers who couldn't help but criticise when you lost a life. The fear of 'death' and the nightmare of being chased through a maze combined with the aforementioned loudness gave rise to a gamesplaying experience that transcends the feeling garnered from playing bland modern day arcade games.

The Game Boy version of Ms Pac Man, the sequel to Pac Man, uses exactly the same mazes and tunes as seen and heard in the arcades of over a decade ago.

GB Action's Art Editor, Marc Keating, swears that if a Game Boy version of Space Invaders is ever released, then he'll buy a brand new Game Boy just to play Space Invaders on.

Next month's GB Action features a full review of Nintendo's Ms Pac Man.

Donkey Kong's the next 'oldie' to be released by Nintendo. I can't wait. The retro revival starts here. ALEX

MANGA NIPPON NIGHT

The Guyver is one mean momma. Check out the effects of The Guyver in the startling piccy below.

Manga makes a return with a review of the latest releases. The Guyver begins a 12 episode battle and Battle Angel Alita and Gunhed also take the stage.

Andy Sharp flexes his muscles and opens his mind to view the latest offerings from Japan's weird world of animated madness. Will GB Action's Manga expert ever be the same again? Only time will tell.

GUNHED

Unlike other Manga releases, this has no animation in it whatsoever. This is an actual film with special effects and actors. As with a couple of other recent Manga releases it's doing a small cinema tour of the country until the middle of May.

The Guyver is one tough chap but looks decidedly dodgy don't you think?

A smash hit in its native Japan in 1989, this futuristic action movie takes place in 21st century. As you'd expect, things have changed a fair bit and robots are practically running the planet for the humans.

Chiron 5, the biggest and most powerful computer on Earth, realises it's strengths and declares war on the entire world.

A Gunhed is an unmanned robot with one hell of an impressive range of firepower. Unfortunately, on the 373rd day of the battle, the final Gunhed is destroyed. This leaves the remaining humans to surrender to Chiron 5's power. Thirteen years later the battle begins over again.

The job of extracting Chiron 5's computer chips is now down to a group of treasure hunters led by a bloke named Brooklyn. This bunch of amateurs are quickly wiped out with the exception of Brooklyn. He in turn meets Nim, who's trailing a group of biodroids responsible for stealing some precious ore from the Dallas institute. After some more battling they're both saved by a couple of children who have managed to survive alone since the war.

With the help of these kids, the last Gunhed is found and somehow repaired. The only chance for these people is to destroy Chiron 5. The battle for supremacy is about to begin.

BATTLE ANGEL ALITA

Originally created as a cyber-action graphic series titled Gunnm, now the best selling manga title over in Japan, Battle Angel Alita is about to be let loose in the UK.

Influences on this latest release include Mad Max and Blade Runner so it will come as no surprise to find that this flick is set some time in the near future.

Unfortunately, not many people paint a pretty picture of the future and this is no exception. The world appears to be a vast junkyard filled with the mechanical trash left behind by a wasteful human race.

One fella working amidst the debris is the cybernetic scientist Dr. Ido. Things begin to take shape when he locates a living cyborg and rebuilds her. Alita is the name he gives her.

Once this cyborg is up and running again, she has no memory of her past. As time progresses her extraordinary powers re-emerge as she enters the dangerous and violent world of the hunter-warriors.

ANNGA

N MARE

The Battle Angel Alita may not look like much but she packs one hell of a punch. This is an excellent way to spend a spare hour.

THE GUYVER

Be sure to get a hefty stock of pop corn when you finally get to view this offering in its entirety. Luckily, that will be a fair way away as this is the first of twelve episodes of The Guyver.

The Guyver is actually the ultimate weapon. When activated it mingles into human form whereby the receiver will be transformed into part man, part machine with more power than your average napalm shower. The first 30 minute chapter sets things in motion with the Guyver units being stolen from the Chronos Corporation in Japan. Unfortunately for young Sho he accidentally triggers the control unit and becomes the Guyver. From here on in it's a brawl between the Guyver and various Bio-Morphic Zoanoids controlled by Chronos. Maybe a little more will be revealed in the future episodes.

Inside the sleeve of this video there's the first part of a comic strip called Hellkatt by Tony Luke and Alan Grant, the only British comic artists to be published in Japan. Certificate: 15 RRP: £5.99 Release date: 11/4

Next month sees more Manga madness unleashed on us poor fools. Look for further chapters in the Guyver series and the continuation of the Hellkat cartoon strips. Crying Freeman should be back in the near future so keep your eyes peeled for our in depth review of everybody's favourite macho man. How many more tattooed followers can he get? Expect more releases from Kiseki Films in the near future also. The Gigolo has been released recently. A 45 minute romp through a young man's adventure to win the sports car of his dreams. Chock full of violence and intrigue everything isn't as it seems. Even the main female character turns out to be a hit woman. We may yet manage to get the first couple of chapters of Return Of The Overfiend reviewed. We did make the promise to everyone a couple of months ago. We always try to be true to our word in every aspect. Thanks must go to each and every person who has written in supporting GB Action's regular Manga features. It looks like it'll be around for some time to come. Hope you enjoyed this month's reviews.

Neil, Doug and Chris pose most willingly with the guys from Twilight Software, the team developing Yogi Bear.

SF2 And Elite are perfectly possible on the 'Boy claim Neil and Doug Holmes. So who are these superheroes? Rob Smith and Ian Lynch launched an investigation.

DO IT YOUR

A SF2 rip-off on the Game Boy is quite easy to do. You've got 40 sprites to use on the Game Boy. Each character takes up 18, which leaves four left for your fireballs etc." so says Neil Holmes, and what about Elite? "oh yes, it's just a wire-frame but it's quite an easy conversion." So why on earth hasn't a publisher gone ahead and converted it then? "Well, we haven't got a name in the Industry, have we?" is the simple truth.

Which leads us to the point of the story here, Neil and Doug, along with converting classics have also designed the largest game ever to fit on the specs of the Game Boy, called Countermove, and they can't get a publisher. Nuts isn't it?

Still, everyone has to start somewhere and Neil and Doug's story started with a SAM Coupe, the failed successor to the Spectrum (hold back the sniggers). Say you've played the few SAM games available and you're a bit fed up with the lack of quality and variety. What do you do?

Well, if you're Neil Holmes you set about teaching yourself the machine code language Z80 and design your own games. But surely this isn't too easy, how long did it take?

Neil says 'About three months, with a few phone calls to Chris [programmer at Twilight Software]. There was me and another guy learning. He'd done a bit of code before and we'd done Basic stuff so just bounced ideas off each other. If you know Basic then it's quite simple to progress'. Sounds it!

So was it a case of spending every waking moment poring over the manuals, trying out the different processes?

Neil admits that a lot of spare time was spent into this learning but not 10 hours a day or anything so intense. 'I'd just write a demo and then just start experimenting and playing around'. It all sounds so easy.

After working with partner Doug Holmes, the graphics man and no relation, for about a year and a half on the SAM stuff it became apparent that this work wasn't really going to lead anywhere. Regardless, Neil and Doug kept going simply because there was nothing else they could do. 'I'd done bits of 68000 [another programming style] on the Amiga' said Neil 'but not enough to make anything happen. Fortunately most languages are basically the same. If you can programme in one it's quite easy to adapt to others'.

What now? You've got games on a machine which nobody wants, a talent for games design and enterprise in wanting to make something happen. What can you do to make progress?

Neil takes up the story. 'The games for the SAM were getting nowhere since there were only about 10 users! We wondered what machine we could do games for and decided on the Game Boy. Then we made a few enquiries about PC's, prices and how to get hold of a development kit. We knew Chris through the work we'd done on the SAM and he got us the address for 21st Century Entertainment.'

Of course all this hardware does not come cheap. Talking hard cash we asked Neil exactly what this whole process had cost them.

'The PC cost us about £850, just a standard 386. Then the actual development kit cost £1000. This covered the box itself, the adaptor which links the Game Boy to the PC and the software.'

'There's also a second card in there for debugging. This gets the Game Boy to send signals back to the PC so we can see what's happening. You can buy the bits separately though. The box costs £400, software £400, adaptor £100, plus VAT.'

HOMework

Far Left: Countermove has 32 frames of animation for the character sprites.

Above and left: In Nigel you must collect lots and lots of lovely diamonds. Dead cute.

SELF

Impossibly EASY

Development kits, without this little box of tricks you can't programme games for the 'Boy. Getting hold of these little black boxes though is something which has eluded most amateur programmers. Y'see Nintendo have their own 'official' development kit which you simply can't get, no matter how much you bang on their doors and howl about the number of millions your game will sell. However, Steve Marsden, Managing Director of software house Spidersoft, designed his own and it is this which is available from 21st Century. But the problems don't end even if you get the development kit.

What's missing now is the manual telling you how the Game Boy works and how to programme it. Fortunately for Neil and Doug some bright spark, who shall remain anonymous, had reverse engineered the Game Boy, an extremely difficult and skilled process, and put the information on a bulletin board for anyone to use. Neil and Doug recognised their opportunity, downloaded the info and used it to get up and running in the design stakes. It's all pretty simple really eh?

Below: Nigel has the handy option of following the arrows to victory. Simple eh?

DO IT YOUR SELF

Wow! Neil and Doug are now aged 19 and 20 but began this project a couple of years ago. They were obviously in need of some financial support to get this whole thing up and running. How did this come about?

'We came to visit Rob [programmer of Yogi Bear on the Game Boy] and were thinking of doing stuff for the SNES, or anything to get away from the SAM... I was coming up to my A levels so something needed to be sorted out. So, we sat down one night, came up with the idea for Countermove and said "Right, let's do it". Then we had a chat with our parents and they agreed to lend us the money to buy the equipment.'

Sounds easy enough with understanding parents but this kind of project requires serious financial backing. Neil and Doug, or Apex Design as they were to become, obviously had right ingredients of talent, initiative and responsibility to follow the project through.

So to Countermove, a combination of Another World, Flashback and Syndicate which sees the hero of the game, you in other words, trapped in a sealed apartment block after a nuclear war. No-one knows what it's like outside, everyone is kept inside by huge corporations who seek to control the new world, using the old "it's good for you" line.

But blending into this backdrop are rumours that outside everything has morphed back to normal and the corporate bosses are living the high-life outside in the country. Quite naturally you feel you'd like a piece of this lifestyle and, starting off as a glorified gopher but armed with the ambition of 20, set off to backstab and assassinate your way up the corporate ranks.

Sounds intriguing doesn't it? The really amazing bit is the map size. Co-designer Neil reckons that, depending on how you rig it up, the map can be up to 16000 times the size of the screen. Zelda's Koholint Island is only 256 times for heavens sake. How on earth did you manage that? "It uses a very clever map routine" was all Neil and Doug would say.

Having such a large area to stroll around has other advantages, as Doug and Neil are quick to point out, "you don't have to work your way up the corporation ladder, if you don't want to - you have the freedom to do what you want. If you don't want to do a mission then you can just wander around. If you want to change Corporations then you can do just that."

These corporations won't let you stroll away if they're so bent on power? "yeah, if you defect, people from other corporations come after you, trying to kill you". So why on earth hasn't anyone snapped it up?

"We managed to get a full demo up and running in time for the winter ECTS with full map and character animation. Working ten hours a day we managed to put the game engine together" says Neil.

'We took it to the show, went to some people and said "What do you think of this?". We talked to various companies who said "Yeah, it's great, we really like this, we'll get back to you".'

Encouraged by the companies' response Neil and Doug waited for the calls... and waited... and waited. After not hearing anything they started to phone up the various companies.

Deflated but not discouraged they set about work on another game, a puzzler called Nigel. Having played the game I can honestly say that it's excellent. How does nine level parallax scrolling sound for starters?

Neil and Doug have designed games for games players rather than using standard formulas or on the back of movie licences. These original ideas deserve a wider audience and need a publisher to take a risk with talent rather than the publisher who replied "tie it in with a movie licence and come back to us".

Their imagination and hard work hasn't been wasted. Twilight Software obviously recognise talent when they see it. They've snapped up Neil, and Doug has been approached by Codemasters.

Neil and Doug, their next project was going to be a conversion of Mario Kart. Shame eh?

MAKING PLANS FOR NIGEL

Nigel, like Countermove, doesn't have a publisher as yet, but who knows?

I know it looks like a basic maze game but it's surprisingly addictive when you play it.

INTERACT FOOTBA

Last month saw the launch of GB Action magazine's very own World Cup Interactive Football competition sponsored by US Gold. Here's the second exciting instalment!

lready the entries are flooding in and several Carling Premiership football clubs including Sheffield United, Norwich City and Tottenham Hotspur have been in touch.

This month, the GB Action kids reveal their choice of goalkeepers and back fours. Next month we'll show you what the pros think and there'll also be another chance for the people who missed last month's instalment to send in their defensive selections.

Check out the list below for some suggestions for your all-important midfield and forward line. As England won the World Cup in 1966 with a 4-3-3 formation, that is the line up that you must choose. In other words, pick three midfielders and three forwards to complete your all-time World Cup XI.

In case you don't know what on earth's going on, the sender of the best World Cup XI wins loads of official USA World Cup '94 merchandise courtesy of top software house US Gold. We'll decide whose XI is the winner - it's up to you to tell us why you picked each player.

If we're struggling with our decision, we'll have a look at the teams the pros have picked and compare them to yours. There'll also be a special prize for the most unusual, creative or hilarious team name.

Remember, if space permits, we'll print as many of your entries as we possibly can.

CHRIS KAMARA THE FIRST-CELEBRITY BACK FOUR!

Chris Kamara of Sheffield United Known affectionately by Sheffield United fans as 'Lionel' after top pop star Lionel Richie, this experienced, tough tackling midfielder knows all about competing at the highest level. Chris is the proud Dad of Game Boy-mad sons Ben and Jack. Here are his selections and comments.

BACK FOUR:

Carlos Alberto (Brazil) - Captain of Brazil's dream team of 1970.

Paul Breitner (West Germany) - Steel - and class to go with it.

Centre Halfs:

Franz Beckenbauer (West Germany) - Could have played in any era - cool, calm and collected.

Bobby Moore (England) - Nobody in the world could read the game better than Bobby.

'A lot of your readers will probably not have seen any of these players but let me assure them, in my opinion, these players could really play!'

Hard tackling Chris was born in Middlesbrough, which isn't that far from Sunderland, Hartlepool and Darlington - all places with professional footy teams.

Alex Lee - There's A Circus

Goalkeeper: Gordon Banks

Full Backs: Ray Wilson, George Cohen

Centre Halfs: Franz Beckenbauer, Bobby Moore

'I've chosen four of England's victorious 1966 back five. I'd have picked Jack Charlton as well but I've never forgiven him for managing Eire even though he's done an excellent job.'

Andy Sharp - Of The Wa!

Goalkeeper: Peter Schmeichel

Full Backs: Danny McGrain, Stuart Pearce

Centre Halfs: Bobby Moore, Gordon McQueen

'A couple of Manchester United greats had to get in. Schmeichel's the best 'keeper in the country at the moment. The rest are totally solid and reliable - players you can count on. Just like me!'

NINTENDO

With as many hints, tips and cheats as these, courtesy of the Nintendo Hotline, it's hard to understand how anyone could fail to breeze through their favourite Game Boy games.

This month, Zelda is still the flavour. Enjoy the solutions to the toughest problems right here.

Q) I've got the Yoshi doll in Zelda - Links Awakening, what do I do with it now, and then what do I do?

A) Firstly, take a look at the map on the right hand page. Now find mushroom at F1 and take to witch's house G6, get Yoshi doll at L4. Then take Yoshi doll to I13 and get the ribbon. Take the ribbon to K2 and get meat. Pick up the meat from O4 and get bananas.

Take the bananas to H12 and get monkey stick. Take the monkey stick to I8 and get Honeycomb. Take honeycomb to chef at M14 and get pineapple. Take the pineapple to B10 and get the Hibiscus plant. Carry the Hibiscus plant to M14 and pick up the letter for Mr Write.

Take letter to Mr Write at D1 and pick up the broom. Take broom to M14 and get hook. Take the hook under the bridge at O11 and get necklace. Take the necklace to M10 and get scale. Take the scale to the statue at O10 and get magnifying glass and with that read the book in library at L1. Push the weather vein up for two seconds and get the rooster. You can also swap an item for the boomerang at P5 and swap back later on. There are more bombs at A5 and more arrows at P10 (Fire rod punters only).

SECRET EXITS

COURSE NO. 3

From where exit is just jump up and right to locate secret exit.

COURSE NO. 8

Look for coins in arrow shape, use flying helmet and locate ledge above the arrow.

COURSE NO. 15

Go right to end, hit switch block. Then go back left, past exit and there is now a stairway going upwards - go up to secret exit.

COURSE NO. 16

Go through first door and jump up underneath the coin in top right corner to make a block appear. Jump on block and leap up and right through the ceiling to locate the secret exit.

COURSE NO. 23

At end of level, when on lost rollercoaster, wait until the Rollercoaster nearly hits the lava then jump onto lower level and bounce up to the secret exit.

SECRET TREASURES

COURSE NO. 3

From skull, go right (must have Dragon Helmet) until second block. Burn to make key appear. Go back with key to keyhole.

From where key is go left to where single cracked block is. Smash block and push upwards to go in secret door - here is keyhole.

COURSE NO. 11

Go through and smash all blocks until a door is revealed. Go through door and get flying helmet and fly up to top left. Get key, throw over to top right and fly there to put key in keyholes.

COURSE NO. 18

From skull door - go right to next door and hit switch block. Exit door and climb stairs to get key.

COURSE NO. 16.

Get key from first block. Go right with key to second set of four cracked rocks. Break rocks to reveal door go through to key hole.

COURSE NO. 20

Run right away from Lava Wall. Hit second to last block to get key, then run right into door. When out of the door climb up ladder to Skull Door.

COURSE NO. 24

From start go right and through door. Go up ladder and follow tunnel until you get to the switch block. Hit block then enter door to left. Swim to top right and hit block to get key. Then return to the start.

COURSE NO. 26

Jump on block to the left of second door, then jump up to make another block appear, jump on that, then jump up and right to locate secret ledge above screen. Go right through door, then continue right and jump, smash top right set of blocks to reveal door and jump up and through door. In room hit switch block, exit room then swim upwards into room with key.

COURSE NO. 34

Climb to the top of the tree and hit block near the exit to get key. Go back down ladder into tree then swim to top right enter door then climb ladder to get to skull door.

COURSE 37

Just before first door after halfway marker, there is a block. Hit block to get key then walk right along bot-

NINTENDO KIDS

Once again, the Nintendo kids have been busy at hunting out cheats, tips and generally helpful stuff. So what have they come up with? They've got a nice little collection of secret treasures, secret exits, how to defeat the bosses and what to do with the Yoshi doll in Zelda - Link's Awakening.

COURSE 31

From start go down first ladder then go right (you must be big). Smash blocks to reveal two further blocks, one has key on it. Go right to the end then double back left a bit and fall down thin pit. Walk left to the skull key.

END BOSSES

RICE BEACH

Big Turtle with spiky helmet:

Wait for him to jump up, then jump up and hit his bottom. Then when he goes into his shell and goes upwards jump up onto the non-spiky bit of him. Hit three times to kill him.

MOUNT TEAPOT

Minotaur.

Best bet - go in as Wario with a helmet, hit minotaur until stunned then throw him into Lava - he will then die.

SHERBET LAND

Big Penguin

Jump on head then move to one side and dash in back. Repeat three times. Must be helmeted Wario.

STOVE CANYON

Big Face

Dodge tongue then pick up bogies that come from his nose and throw them at him three times.

SS TEACUP

Big Bird

Jump on little birds and throw at his head three times.

PARSLEY WOODS

Ghost

Jump on little ghost then pick up and throw at Big Ghost three times.

SYRUP CASTLE

Last Boss - Genie

Pick up the lamp and throw it around. If it lands correctly, a cloud will appear.

Jump on cloud, as it raises, jump onto Genie's head. When he wiggles his fingers two fireballs will come out, jump over them.

You must stomp on the Genie's head six times.

That's all folks!

Welcome to the all-new letters pages! The wall from Off The Wall has been demolished, but the rubble is going to a charitable cause.

It's not easy

Dear GB Action,

I think that your magazine is brilliant and I have tried making one myself. If there's anyone out there who is thinking of making one and selling it I'd just like to tell them to think about it first. It's very hard work and if you give up you may go bankrupt sending all the money back.

Raoul Dawda (ex editor of Hyper Talk), Coventry

In view of last months 'Fanzine Frenzy' feature this seemed an apt reminder of exactly how difficult it can be to put a mag together.

Congratulations Raoul on giving it a go and commiserations on it not going exactly to plan. Would-be editors beware: it ain't all fun and roses but don't worry, the likelihood of going bankrupt is very remote!

If you're committed, and you have to be, go for it!

Decisions, decisions

Dear GB Action,

Whenever I buy a Game Boy game I always read the back of the box but I find it a bit misleading because they advertise them as a great game but usually turn out to be totally rubbish. So far I have bought two good games out of six. The good ones are Tiny Toons 2 and Kirby's Dream Land. I know you can't review and preview every game everywhere, I just want to know how to choose good games.

David Butler, Edinburgh

The simple answer David is to read GB Action every month. We are here to assess the games which are going to appear on the shelves and then rate them. TT2 and Kirby's got 88% and 89% respectively so were obviously good choices to buy. Just keep informed by following the experts!

Tetris lives on

Dear GB Action,

I am writing to ask if you could please tell me the highest ever score recorded for Tetris.

I have been playing nearly every day for two and a half years and my highest score is 458,758 (level 20).

I would like to know if this is considered to be a good score or should I go on to play another game?

Also is there such a thing as a Tetris competition?

Carolyn Ferrari (Mrs), Stoke Poges

Well, Mrs Ferrari, we had a bit of a Tetris challenge back in issues 12 to 14. The highest recorded score then was about 278000, some way short of your total. How many lines did you complete in your epic score?

More Tetris

Dear GB Action,

In issue no. 23 you stated and I quote 'Tetris 2 is now actually available in the US of A, but is deemed unsuitable for British consumption. In other words, Nintendo don't reckon it's good enough for us.' I would like to point out that a few pages further on Console Plus is advertising Tetris 2 for sale at £23.99, it is also for sale at our local Argos store for £24.99 and has been since the end of January. What was the idea of this misinformation? Just to test whether your readers actually read everything in the

While there are no plans to hold a Tetris tournament, our very own Alex would certainly be in with a shout in a two player contest. Feel free to let us know your top scores. Can you complete the Game B challenge on level nine, five high? If you can, tell us what kind of rocket takes off into the skies (we already know by the way thanks to our smart-ass Editor)!

Will any game ever have Tetris's endearing appeal?

Easy peasy

Dear GB Action,

Firstly, congratulations on an excellent magazine. I want to make a point about the games available on the Game Boy. I have had my 'Boy for six months now and have played around six games including both Super Mario games, Mortal Kombat, Bart/Camp Deadly and the brilliant Zelda.

None of these illustrious names have taken me over two weeks to complete. Zelda took 12 days but Mortal Kombat just two days. Have any of your readers also experienced this problem? Could you tell me what games are notorious for their difficulty as I would like to try one of these?

magazine? Or maybe you really didn't know that Tetris 2 is here on the UK market! Or is it a case of computer error? HA HA! Anyway, apart from that, I think your magazine is great. Keep on with the good work! All the best from an 'oldie' GB user.
KS Bell (Mrs), Ely

I've just spoken to Nintendo and it won't be out officially in Britain until August at the earliest. The Tetris 2 you've seen is on import. So, Mrs Bell, there wasn't a computer error nor a human one. You won't find an official British Tetris 2 anywhere because there isn't one yet.

P.S. Pit Fighter is a lot better than 33%! (Don't call me crazy but it is).
Richard Gay, Faversham

Well, "Crazy", try Batman: Return Of The Joker if you want a real challenge or Spiderman's 2 and 3.

We couldn't call you "Crazy" for thinking Pit Fighter is any good, just a little 'judgementally challenged' to use some politically correct jargon!

Down Under

Dear GB Action,

If you want to have a laugh when you are playing the brilliant game Zelda, then seeing the 'revenge of the chickens' is a must! Believe it or not, I'm talking about the chickens you will find in the village.

Yes, those innocent looking things that cluck and run when you hit them! Well anyway, how you do it.

Try and corner a chicken in the gap between the house and its fence. Then go against all fairness and moralities and start slashing it to bits with your sword.

If you do this for long enough you will suddenly find that loads of chickens appear on all sides of the screen and will start zooming across it.

They'll finish you off in no time so my advice is to get out of there and never touch another chicken again!

That'll teach all those vicious hooligans (like me!) to try that again! By the way, can you buy GB Action down under? I am moving to Australia in July so I need to know whether I'll ever see the mag again?

John Beynon, Leicester

Thanks for that insight into gratuitous violence within Game Boy games. Just don't try and repeat your feat in real life!

GB Action is available in Australia, but don't expect the issues to be as up to date as the ones you see in England.

Most illuminating

Dear GB Action,

Please tell me or do a feature on the best illuminating accessories for the Game Boy. I have found that that the magnifier on the Light Boy reflects too much background light. If you do a feature, please consider: size, durability, battery consumption, price and the 'evenness' of illumination.

Douglas Ayling, Claygate

The next time we do an accessories feature, Douglas, we'll take your points into consideration. When the next time will be, however, is open to debate. If there's anyone else with top feature ideas like Douglas, why not write in and share them with us. It'll certainly brighten up our lives.

Nosey parker

Dear GB Action,

I have been wondering whether to write to you, so as you can see I decided to. Could you please tell me how you actually got a job, working for the mag. I think that I would enjoy working for GB Action, especially on the reviews and the Buyers Guide. I am only 14, so I have no choice at the moment.

If I ever did though, I would have to consider a few things:

- 1) How long do you play on the Game Boys?
- 2) Do you earn a decent amount of money?

I have two suggestions to maybe improve the mag:

- 1) Don't include Manga reviews.
 - 2) Include prices in the Buyers Guide.
- Keep up the good work!

P.S. Does the Star Letter win a prize?

Matthew Worman, Norfolk

To get a job working on GB Action, we all had to undergo a really tough selection process. We were flown to Hawaii in a private jet and had to sit on a beach all day.

The next thing we knew, a selection committee consisting of Anneliese out of Neighbours, Anita out of 2Unlimited and C.J. out of Baywatch picked us all as they considered us to be tough, brave, handsome and generally quite smart and ream.

When we're not on holiday abroad (which is most of the time) we play each game for about two days as it only takes us half an hour to complete even the hardest of games.

We all earn absolutely stacks of money. In fact, if our wages were broken down into pound coins and put in a pile, it would reach the moon.

We have to include Manga reviews because Anneliese, Anita and C.J. told us so.

We can't include prices because they vary from shop to shop and all we'd get would be letters saying that some of our prices were wrong. As far as giving a prize to the sender of the Star Letter, it doesn't really apply in your case because your letter isn't all that good really.

Zelda - the sequel

Dear GB Action,

Just recently, I bought the Legend Of Zelda, Link's Awakening on the Game Boy and, using your mind blowingly excellent guide, I have just this minute completed it for the second time. What I want to know is will a second Zelda be coming out on the Game Boy?

I know you can't just dream up another one overnight but is there any possible hint that Nintendo might be planning one for the future? As there are already three or four on the SNES and the NES, I don't think that another one on the Game Boy would go astray. Thanks once again for the infinitely helpful guide.

P.S. I think that I have found out the first part of a cheat on Zelda. I noticed that in the instruction book they had put their name in as Zelda and they had started the game with ten hearts. I entered my name as Zelda and some strange music started to play. If anyone could find out if this is a cheat could you write in?

Mark Andrews, Warwickshire

Nintendo are renowned for their astuteness and it wouldn't surprise me at all if they were to release another Zelda on the Game Boy.

Sales figures on the 'Boy version have so far been phenomenal. As you mentioned, the versions available on the NES and SNES have also proved incredibly popular.

Nintendo are planning to reveal their new product line up very soon and I will be at the official press day so I may have some news for you on the subject next issue.

If anyone else has any hints, tips and cheats for Link's Awakening, feel free to write in and tell us all about them.

ROCKET FUEL

I was playing Tetris, I got up to 134 lines and then they went out of control and I lost. After this a rocket took off. Please tell me what this means.
Amy C. West, Devizes

It simply means that you're a top Tetris player Amy. You probably scored 100000 points which means you won the game. Congratulations.

MAZZA KART CART?

1. Is Mario Kart going to be released on the Game Boy?

2. Is The Humans any good?
Rob Boole, Hednesford

1. Not very likely.

2. This puzzling Lemmings-esque affair scored 87% in issue 16.

ZOOLOGY

Is there a level select for Zool?
Chris Long, Bexhill on Sea

We don't know of any level select but for infinite lives wait for the big picture of Zool to appear and then press up, down, right, left, A, B and Start. Zool should then flash indicating that you have an infinite number of Ninja's with which to escape the planet.

SHE'S GOT A FIDGETT

I've got The Fidgetts (I'd see a doctor about that if I were you - The Doctor). Have you any cheats?
Louise Booth, Sheffield

Very tricky is this little gem from Elite. To reach level six use the passcode: Gameboy, Football, Spring

WHERE HELL NECKLACE?

Where is the mermaid's necklace in Zelda? I need it to get the magnifying glass to find the directions through the Wind Fish. Be precise!
Jeffrey Goslan, Glasgow

In the lower half of the map there's a bridge leading to an island with a lone owl. Under the only bit of bridge not covered by rocks you'll find a fisherman who, in return for the fishing hook, will present you with the necklace. Now get the scale from the mermaid's tail and take that to the mermaid statue. The magnifying glass is now yours. Precise enough!

DEAD DEDEDE

On the last level of Kirby's Dream Land how are you supposed to kill Dedede?
Emma Jenkins, Cardiff

Patience is the key, Emma. Suck in the stars after he's tried to jump on you and fire them back as normal. Dedede just doesn't release many stars, one every six months or so we reckon, so you've got to wait around until he does and then waste him quickly.

DIME BAR

I'm stuck in the Dime Tower in Mystic Quest. The Tower has sunk and I cannot find a way out. How do I get out? Please don't tell me this is the end...
Jim Morrison, Morpeth

Our Mystic Quest expert says "Hmm, don't know how you can get stuck inside" cos he's dead helpful like that. Apparently the Tower only collapses after you've been thrown over the top by your robot friend. The MQ guru says he can probably help if you can explain your predicament a little further. So write in with a few more details.

SUBSCRIPTIONS

Could you please send me information on buying back issues, please. It is extremely urgent as I'm stuck on a game which you covered in your issues. Also, could we subscribe through you?
Sarah Mohammed, London

Because our cover price is so amazingly low, it is not profitable for us to run a subscription service. However, limited copies of back issue are available at £2 each (including postage and packing) from Database Direct. The number you need is 051 357 1275. Quote the appropriate reference number, which is 41 followed by the issue number (i.e. the reference number for issue 23 is 4123). If the issue you require is in stock, then send a cheque or postal order for the correct amount to Database Direct, PO Box 2, Ellesmere Port L65 3EA. Ask for details about credit card payment if you're interested.

SPECIAL REQUEST

I've written this letter to comment on how good this Game Boy magazine is. But would it be possible to put more maps, tips and cheats of the games and the index in the start of the magazine?

I know there is an index but it only has about four things that says news, reviews, gamebusters, comps and buyers guide. Can you make it a bit more detailed and it would make me much happier. Thank you very much.
Martin Humphreys, Gwynned

Thanks for your suggestions, Martin, but thousands of other readers disagree with you. The vast majority of GB Action readers are happy with the mag's current format. If the contents page was more detailed it would lose its visual impact. We wouldn't want to give everything away in the first few pages. Thanks everyone. Bye for now.

On The Tiles

Elite

After the introduction of the game Splitz rated 85%, I must set the record straight after such a poor review given to On the Tiles in issue 23.

With 32 picture puzzles, four levels of difficulty and two ways of playing this game, it is far superior to its forerunner Splitz in every way. The pictures of the three games' heroes are graphically excellent, there is just enough time to complete each level and the password facility makes this game brilliant.

If you want something different from the normal platform romp or shoot 'em up that's suitable for anyone, then this game is a must! Excellent!

Colin Hands, Batley.

The Legend of Zelda

Nintendo

What can I say? Zelda is beautifully presented, with graphics and sound worthy of the excellent SNES version.

The huge island Link is on is littered with caves, shops and dungeons for you to discover.

There are plenty of items for Link to collect or buy and you'll need them if you want to complete all the puzzles and hopefully wake the Wind Fish.

You'll be glad to hear that you can also save your exploits and then carry on with them at a later date.

In my view Zelda gets a well deserved 97%. What's left to say except buy it!

Nigel Mansell's World Championship Racing

Gremlin

When I first played this game I couldn't believe how realistic it was. There are over 20 different tracks with all kinds of weather. This is easily a brilliant racing sim and I would recommend it to any racing enthusiasts. Your chance to emulate Mansell!

The sound and graphics are excellent and it has great playability. If you ever bought this game expect late nights as you will be glued to your Game Boy for quite some time to come.

Qix

Nintendo

This game doesn't do much for the Game Boy. Actually it's a big shame. I saw the picture on the box and thought, 'This can't be bad.' But I was to be hugely disappointed.

All you do is move a crystal thing around trying to claim 75% of the screen while avoiding the wavy thing called the Qix. The Qix is very unpredictable when it moves and it can be very frustrating when it gets you.

The game has no music and the sound effects are limited and boring. Your character moves slowly when you use the A button, but when you use the B button it manages to move even slower.

If you get this game, you really have to stick at it to get anywhere. The game gets very boring so I'm only going to give it 69%.

PLATFORMS

Addams Family

Ocean

Although graphically this may not be tremendous, it's a fun and challenging game with plenty there for the taking. Competent and cute, it'll appeal to any platform loving fan of the movie. 80%

Adventure Island I & II

Hudson Soft

Two playable if not overtly difficult romps taking you around various islands in a bid to find your lost girlfriend. Nothing new on display yet nothing to slate either. 70%

Asterix

Infogrames

A well buckled together and challenging romp through a richly diverse range of lands is what you're getting yourself into with this lively game. Nothing unique about it and very much in the Mario vein, with plenty of finger flexing to set your pulse racing. Tres bon! 82%

Alien 3

Acclaim

The bitch is back in a search and seek out the baddies puzzling extravaganza. Plenty of exploration and maze-like complexities that make for a teasing and very enduring challenge against the Aliens. 90%

Alien vs. Predator

Activision

Two of the meanest big screen monsters are brought together (via comic books) in a seek and destroy action-cum-platform adventure. You play the Predator against a rampaging horde of Aliens. Only the best survive. Fine presentation of sound and graphics with endearing gameplay make this one to look out for. 84%

Balloon Kid

Nintendo

A weird adventure in which you chase balloons over a number of taxing levels. Simple and fun and very cute, there are oodles of hazards to dodge and power-ups to grab. Despite this it's a bit too tedious. 71%

Bart Simpson's Escape from Camp Deadly

Acclaim

A fun and addictive cartoon licence that does Bart justice. In what other game do you get a full-on food fight? With arcadey overtones and lots and lots of challenging layers, this will certainly take some beating. 86%

Batman: Animated Series

Konami

The Dark Knight at his darkest in this fine action adventure. Based on the cartoon series, Batman has to defeat The Joker, The Scarecrow and Mr. Freeze among others. With dark and moody graphics adding to the Gothic style feel this is a top challenge and a must for fans of the series. 89%

Batman

Sunsoft

A platform-cum-shoot'em-up that models itself on the golden Super Mario Land. Batman romps along at a very snappy pace with tons of triggers to pull on the baddies. No sign of Robin though, which is a little bit of a shame. 80%

Batman: Return of the Joker

Sunsoft

Dead, dead tough but certainly worth plugging away at - this gets old rubber pants' sequel off to a good start. Truly excellent sound effects and well snazzy graphics complement the superb gameplay. Loads of mileage for your hard earned money is assured here. That blinking Joker returns once more! Catch him if you can in this whopping challenge! 87%

Bill and Ted's Excellent Game Boy Adventure

Acclaim

A truly excellent game for any bodacious player that'll appeal to everyone. Pretty damn hard but pleasantly so, each stage presents a tip top challenge. Graphics are a touch on the naff side but the gameplay is ace. Bound to keep you air guitaring for ages. 90%

Blues Brothers

Titus

Shades on everyone! Time for a true merry go round of fun and frivolity as you cruise up and down stairways and along pulleys in a desperate search for your missing instruments. Brilliant music and graphics and a rock solid platform romp around rock 'n' roll land make this a worthy addition to any collection. 90%

Bomb Jack

Infogrames

A very simple but nevertheless addictive arcade conversion in which you boing around the screen destroying countless fused bombs. There are 60 levels to negotiate if you can last the pace that is. 80%

Bubble Bobble

Taito

A stormer of a game. Extremely addictive straight from the word go with over 200 levels and OKish graphics. Packed full of fun but a bit easy. 87%

Bram Stoker's Dracula

Sony / Psygnosis

Does Dracula suck its rivals fresh out of blood or have Sony released a cart that's all bat and no bite? Well, as long as you put it on the hardest level it's pretty good. Some of the crash detection can be a bit dodgy but everything else is good. Not brilliant but pretty good. 85%

Castelian

Storm

A challenging game that'll stretch your memory and reflexes as you work through seven different towers. The time limit leaves no room for error and it can get annoying at times. 65%

Castlevania 2

Konami

A very enjoyable vampire themed game and one for die hard players to sink their fanged teeth into. It's thankfully much more than just a glorified platform romp as you swing around on ropes and grapple with castle keepers for your life. Vangtastic, well pretty close to it anyway. 86%

Dennis

Ocean

Dennis the menace, American style, is trying to make amends for his numerous misdemeanors. A coin search is the task undertaken by Dennis to help his neighbour, Mr. Wilson. Neat graphics and simple gameplay make this quite an effective platform romp. 82%

Dragon's Lair

Elite

Incredibly hard but dead dead playable all the same. Graphic detail is stunning as you do anything but roller coaster along collecting hundreds of pieces of a Life Stone. A real stormer of a challenge. 88%

Duck Tales

Capcom

Set over five levels, there's plenty of exploration to get on down to with everyone's fave Disney characters. Although competent, playable and graphically well presented, some find it a little too easy in the long run. Quacktastic? 81%

Duck Tales 2

Capcom

A terrific sequel to the top quality first instalment. A globe trotting Scrooge McDuck has to overcome all manner of cunning devices on the way to another mountain of cash. Great graphics and simple gameplay make it a real delight for each and every fan of the genre. 83%

Edd the Duck

Laserbeam

Set over 12 levels this has all the ingredients of a fun-filled romp yet none of the longevity or class to make it too memorable. Edd's a zippy mover, perhaps too much so at times as sheer momentum rather than skill carries him through some levels. Not bad, but a bit too much like Taz-Mania really. 77%

Felix the Cat

Hudsonsoft

Well, there's cute graphics and a snazzy character capable of changing his garb and means of transport, but at the end of the day all you get is a pretty average platformer that won't last you very long. Very paw. 70%

Jungle Book

Virgin

All the main characters from the film are here in this excellent release from Virgin. An excellent movie licence, whatever next? Yes it's a platform game but lo and behold we all liked it.

Essential Game Boy Purchases Essential Game Boy Purchases Essential Game Boy

Pinball Dreams

Gametek

Silver ball action of the slickest kind. Three competitive tables pack an arcade full of features. An essential purchase for Pinball Wizards, enchanting. Lives up to its name and really is a dream come true. One of the most playable carts. You'll be totally hooked. 92%

Wario Land

Nintendo

It's been a bit of a wait but when he arrived Wario delivered the goods in quite impressive style. While not particularly difficult to complete, Wario's land is full of hidden levels and hidden treasures. Bold graphics and super sonics make helping Wario's search for cash a quite enjoyable one. A top class product. 93%

Lemmings

Ocean

The monochrome Lemmings may lack the cuteness of their console big brothers but the playable is there in full effect. 100 levels will keep you up all night and use up all your spare battery collection. Puzzle players will find a lasting challenge to fall in love with and marry. 95%

Finding a game which looks excellent, plays well and is seriously addictive is pretty difficult to achieve these days. This is one of them. 90%

The Fidgetts

Elite

A mind bendingly difficult puzzle challenge. Guide Frankie and Freddie through some wonderfully detailed sewers to try and reach a ship to the States. Puzzles abound but terrific graphics help make this toughie quite bearable. 91%

The Flintstones

Taito

Yabba-dabba-doo! Well, there's no need to get that excited because this is another stone age platform romp albeit with admittedly excellent graphics. The let-down is that there's no Barney Rubble! 78%

Tom and Jerry: Frantic Antics

High Tech Expressions

Simple, playable platformer featuring the world's most famous enemies as erm...friends. Join Tom on a scooter avoiding fire hydrants and Jerry in a swimming race as they search through a number of quite large levels. Madcap and frantic action make this one worthy of a look. 85%

Home Alone 1 & 2

Toy Headquarters

Two sad films have become even sadder games and complete dross is what you get here. The sprites are shamefully slow and gameplay is more laughable than cute little Master Culkin himself, as you endlessly leg it around. Very poor! 35%

Hook

Ocean

Mixing both flying and beat'em-up sections with the traditional platform thrills, this is a high quality release. Some really great graphics and totally unstoppable gameplay all add up to a near-excellent release. Recommended! 85%

Indiana Jones and The Last Crusade

Ubisoft

The worlds most well known and greatest archaeologist in his finest adventure. Six large and challenging levels follow closely to the story of the film and provide a great test of skill. The rousing rendition of the theme music helps things along superbly. Very good. 84%

Joe and Mac

Elite

A clobberingly groovy, great platformer that's hard enough to lure even the toughest of gamers into its snare. Cute graphics and chuckalicious antics make for great all round entertainment through nine thudding levels of charm. 89%

Kid Dracula

Konami

Although it would seem to be aimed at the younger market, the kid does his best to give you a challenge to sink your teeth into. Full of fun and twists, it's jollied along nicely despite the levels being far too short. 84%

Kirby's Dream Land

Nintendo

A gorgeously animated and incredibly cute romp around pixie land. The hero Kirby sucks in baddies, then spits them out around six levels. Although very easy it's got bags and bags of fluffy loveability. In other words buy this game. 89%

Last Action Hero

Sony Imagesoft

Arnie's big budget, big flop vehicle is a decent whack at the action/platform style. Some excellent graphics are combined with some varied gameplay but there are a few problems which don't make this the totally thrilling adventure it could have been. Sloppy presentation in places undermines some of the good things. 80%

Looney Tunes

Sunsoft

A fun and highly enjoyable hike with super sparkling cartoon characters, simply gorgeous graphics and more than ample variety. It's instantly appealing and engaging but not, unfortunately, too long lasting. 90%

Max

Infogrames

A very barren, very, very short platformer that's forgettable. Max is a cute character but this can't rescue the failing, sluggish and poor gameplay. 60%

McDonaldland

Ocean

A competent enough and quite enjoyable jaunt although it doesn't even try to offer anything new. A bit of a cross really between The Blues Brothers, Mario and a Big Mac. 80%

Mega Man I, II, III & IV

Capcom

Although all four games don't differ much in terms of style or gameplay, the challenge just becomes greater. Mega games for the Game Boy with tons of robotic fury and swiftness combined with endless thrills and spills. Mega! 90%

Parasol Stars

Ocean

Fight through seven levels brolly bashing everything in sight with some fearsome raindrops. Graphics are pukingly cute with ultra-dreamy sprites and you'll need absolutely tons of stamina and concentration to make any headway at all. 76%

Popeye 2

Activision

A darn fine escapade for Popeye the sailor man. He's a fine mover and graphics are clean and not over fussy with plenty of variety through the levels. Modelled blatantly on Mario, it's not as challenging as it could be but there are lots of secret bits to find. 83%

Pop Up

Infogrames

Just bounce a ball from platform to platform, collecting each and every item on the screen. That's it. Some columns are angles, others you'll need keys for before passing through. Very samey and hard. 61%

Prince Of Persia

Mindscape

Silky smooth animation is just the polish on this very sweet turkish delight of a platform game. With some very difficult problems to get around and lots of lasting appeal it's a more mature adventure. The final levels keep you playing on. 90%

Rodland

Sales Curve

Simply executed and mindless meanie bopping is pleasantly entertaining with a strange charm in this sickeningly cute game. Very repetitive but nevertheless still well worth a play about on. 79%

Speedy Gonzales

Sunsoft

Just what the doctor ordered! A really smart, genuinely fast six levels of unceasing taco-fuelled manic mayhem! Speedy Gonzales exudes death to hedgehogs from every pore as he races across your screen in a bid to rescue his mates. Definitely recommended. 90%

Spider-Man 1, 2 & 3

Acclaim

If you avoid the first game in this series, you'll have a fine web-sling of a time with a beautifully animated Spidey sprite. Levels are richly diverse as the webbed wonder defeats deadly dozens of dastardly foes. Be warned though, Spider-Man 3 is horribly difficult and huge heaps of mind-warping frustration may spoil your fun. 83%

Super Hunchback

Ocean

Addictive gameplay and humorous touches make this one platform game that stands out from the crowd. Rescuing Esmerelda will be a task to cherish for any dedicated platform nut. Almost as good as the ancient arcade game. What more is there to say? 91%

Super James Pond

Ocean

Make it a meatier challenge and this may well have been a straightforward winner. As it is it certainly invites plenty of exploration with lots of winsome characterisation and graphics, but there just aren't enough baddies to occupy you fully. It's also more than a mite difficult to see what's going on at times on account of the constantly black backgrounds. 80%

Star Wars

Ubisoft

Varied and absorbing. This lasts longer than a Tatoine Winter and is far more fun. With a playably faithful version of the film's event it's a class product, even Obi Wan wouldn't be able to criticise it. May the force be with you — you'll need it! 92%

Super Mario Land

Nintendo

Released to coincide with the launch of the Game Boy itself, it may be showing its age in terms of graphic style but you can't take anything away from the absolutely fantastic gameplay. Certainly one to keep coming back to. 92%

Super Mario Land 2

Nintendo

A cuddly and quite exquisite platform caper that absorbs and also expands on its infamous predecessor with distinct worlds to explore and secret rooms to find. The only fault is that the battery back-up makes it far too easy, thus spoiling an otherwise excellent platform game. 90%

Talespin

Capcom

Jolly graphics, chirpy music and some nicely weird scrolling fail to add up to a terribly captivating licence. Still, at least it stars Baloo from The Jungle Book, and you can hum 'Bear Necessities' to yourself while playing it. 73%

Essential Game Boy Purchases

Krusty's Fun House

ACCLAIM

Hi Kids! Bart's all time fave TV show trips onto the green screen with class. A platform puzzler that's got very little to do with the Simpsons, but everything to do with infuriatingly addictive gameplay! The 60 plus levels will take ages to battle through. Rats, rats and more rats have to be squished in this purge on rodent life. The ability to play the levels in any order, plus passwords to keep you going when you get stuck, a very good package. 92%

The Lawnmower Man

Staim

Well, we teased you forever before finally reviewing the thing. Why? 'cos we knew it was going to be excellent. All the time and effort put in by Storm certainly resulted in a great cart. Including gameplay sections of just about every genre you can think of Lawnmower Man puts in an early challenge for game of the year. 91%

Taz-Mania

THQ
Luckily for THQ, Taz marks a turning point in their fortunes. It's an actually quite good platform romp with an endearingly hungry and dizzy central character munching everything in sight. It is a bit too like Edd the Duck though. 76%

Tiny Toon Adventures

Konami
Cutesy pie graphics and wonderful slickness make this a real visual treat. Jolly along with some great imaginative gameplay and what do you get? A hugely playable romp to be savoured that is in no way as easy as it first seems. 89%

Tiny Toons 2

Konami
Montana Max has taken over the movie theatre and Buster Bunny is entrusted with the task of saving his pals from having to sit through one of his movies. Cute graphics in a jolly good fun platform romp make it a well worthy sequel to the excellent first instalment. 88%

Titus the Fox

Titus
Graphically this is extremely detailed and Titus is a lively little character but there's just not enough bite on offer here. Gameplay ambles slowly along rather than gallops and each background tends to resemble the next. Crazy platform action with a cute fox thrown in for good measure. 67%

Universal Soldier

Accolade
Wielding more punch than Rocky this is non stop action all the way. A great control system with tons of moves to master. Maiming and killing has never been so much fun. Jean Claude Van Damme it's good. 80%

Double Dragon

1, 2 & 3
Acclaim
The whole series is dead dull and oh so boring as you stalk the streets and punch your way through the odd wave of henchmen, getting mangled every so often. Totally thrill-less. 25%

Lethal Weapon

Ocean
Action is go, go, go and the game does get better and more involving the more progress you make. However, sadly, there is a distinct lack of moves to perform, thus making it considerably more dull and boring than joyfully exciting. Bit of a shame really. 72%

Mortal Kombat

ACCLAIM
Even without the blood and guts, colour, Johnny Cage, and that ole 16-bit magic, Mortal Kombat is still a highly successful conversion. You beat people up, surprise, surprise, but in a number of endearingly vicious but sadly PG-rated ways. Better than ice-cream. 87%

Pit-Fighter

THQ
Tons of choice on offer here with a mere five opponents, yeah right, I don't think! Earn money with more muscles and beat the living daylight out of the others with your special moves. Boring, boring, boring. Get the message? 33%

Raging Fighter

Konami
A slap happy, stumble over your shoelaces game rather than a full blooded raging fight. There are seven fighters to choose from and a vast array of moves, but it hasn't quite enough guts to punch you. It's really quite middle of the range. 74%

Teenage Mutant Ninja

Turtles
Ultra Games

A faithful blow by blow version of the smash hit coin-op. Old as the hills but still loved by millions, including us. It looks a bit jaded on the old 'Boy and is very barren, yet has tons and tons of nostalgia value. 73%

Centipede

Accolade
Based on the ancient coin-op success, this remains faithful to its grandad and has been converted to the little screen as well as could be expected. Hugely repetitive and simple, it becomes a little wearisome sooner rather than later. An old classic back from the dead. 60%

Drop Zone

Mindscape
A golden oldie to hit the Game Boy with all the concentration on gameplay and none on graphic detail. It packs a potent punch but is just far too hard and samey to offer serious long-term appeal. 77%

Faceball 2000

George Foreman's KO Boxing

Acclaim

Lily livered punches and non-existent gameplay make this the worst fight sim ever as the big fat waddler stands rooted to the spot with a jab once every blue moon, if you're lucky. Rank gameplay and ranker graphics, this is awful. If you must buy a boxing game get Muhammed Ali's instead. 24%

Goal!

Jordan Vs Bird

Electronic Arts

Not a full blown basketball simulation, more like a game involving two players, one basket and a ball. Doesn't really work as well as it might have done. Not the best basketball game around. 73%

Konami Golf

Konami

A challenging simulation of this relaxing pastime. Let down by the lack of courses (just two are featured), Konami's Golf still provides a decent test of skill, touch and judgement. Good graphics add to the golfing feel. One of the better golf games available on the Game Boy. 81%

Mario Golf

Nintendo

With everything you could possibly need for a few rounds, a battery back-up to boot and plenty of different holes to negotiate this is a near perfect sim for budding enthusiasts to enjoy. Fore! 80%

Mario Tennis

Nintendo

Mario and Luigi battle it out with backhands and volleys in this wonderfully realistic sim. Still a fine tennis game despite the recent competition from Jimmy. It's fast, addictive and four difficulty levels calls for sound tactical thinking. This gets played a lot round the office. 89%

Side Pocket

Nintendo

Not really the pool simulator you're led to expect. All you do is knock the balls around a six holed table and pot them in numerical order. The limited appeal soon wanes. 63%

Sensible Soccer

Sony Imagesoft

Realistic football action is let down only by the lack of two player option and the minute sprites. Get over these little problems and there's some fun to be had stroking the ball around the pitch at club or national level. A good effort in the monochromatic confines of the Game Boy. 85%

Speedball 2

Mindscape

A future sport game combining brutal non stop action in the arena with team management and coaching, strengthening a squad of 12. Chuck a steel ball around and try to knock your pal on their butt. A pretty top hand held conversion of the Amiga classic. 91%

Tip Off

Imagineer

With two teams moving at an incredible speed it's difficult to figure out just what the heck's going on and the whole caboodle thus disintegrates into a blurred mess. Not one of the greatest basketball sims on the shelves to say the least. 64%

Track and Field

Konami

Leaving all other sports sims standing perfectly still, this game is tough enough and varied enough to guarantee great mileage. Get to compete in various challenges, and try to come out top of the pile. 90%

SIMULATIONS

F-15 Strike Eagle

Microprose

The ultimate flight simulation with tons of acrobatic dogfights and targets to zoom in on. Graphics and sound are great and the control system is simple to master. 87%

Phantom Air Mission

Activision

An ambitious attempt at a flight sim which, on the whole, works out quite well. In between take-off, sorties and refuelling you have to use your radar to track down enemy craft. Each mission, rather unfortunately, has a somewhat uncanny resemblance to the last, so you may well become bored too quickly. 72%

Top Gun

Konami

For a flight sim this isn't very flight simmy. Action simply revolves around popping enemy fighters with a steady and accurate gun rally. The rest of the time is spent aimlessly cruising around the skies. Not exactly a Tom Cruise of a game this one, pretty average indeed. 67%

PUZZLERS

Boxxle 1 & 2

FCI

You shift around a selection of boxes, moving them to their correct position as indicated by a marker. Sounds boring but it isn't. Two real brain teasers make a pleasant change from more run-of-the-mill offerings. A pretty good effort in all. 80%

Game Boy Purchases Essential Game Boy Purchases Essential Game Boy Purchases Essential

Dr Franken

Elite

Spookily special adventure here as Franky searches a gothic horror of a castle in order to reunite his girlfriend (Bitsy), literally reunite. It's her body bits that he searches for. Loads of nasties, locations and challenges add up to extreme quality, even better than the excellent sequel. Perhaps not to everyone's taste, but certainly a more than welcome change from endless platforms. 92%

The Empire Strikes Back

Ubisoft

This sequel is bigger, better, harder, incredible. You'll be glued to the screen and won't want to stop. A beautifully constructed adaption that has lots to do with the film. Probably the finest film tie in to date. Something special that you definitely won't complete in a day! 93%

Check out the GB Action guide every month for the definitive list of what's what in the world of the 'Boy.

Brain Bender

Gremlin

Alter the angle of mirrors to direct a laser beam through all the nasty objects. Could have been fabulous but the time-limit is ridiculously short, leaving you more than a little mad. 59%

Battle of Olympus

Imagineer

Set in ancient Greece this is a huge game that's bound to draw you into a long and exciting epic. Graphically excellent it involves a hefty whack of well presented violence alongside good interaction with all the freaky characters who offer you clues and set you on your many missions. 87%

Dr Mario

Nintendo

Supposed to be a bit like Tetris but it falls flat on its face. The object is to line up lots of coloured pills in a jar. A major disappointment all in all considering the cool Dr Mario connection thrown in there. 42%

Garfield

Kemco

Doesn't stray too far off the beaten track as far as puzzlers go, but still an enjoyable play with a password option that sustains your interest through some of the more difficult labyrinths. Garfield drills through blocks, finds keys and opens gates to get into new rooms, all while warding off the nasty villains. 87%

Godzilla

Virgin Games

This blast from the past is an ordinary re-issued 64 level puzzler. But there's a criminal shortage of radioactive breath and Tokyo-stomping from the big green dude in the large rubber suit. Shame. 65%

Kwirk

Acclaim

Guide a tomato through single screen maze-like rooms, shifting boxes and filling holes. Doesn't sound much I know, but rather good anyway. 88%

Kirby's Pinball

Nintendo

Part three of the Kirby Challenge sees our little blobby hero in a pinball game of all things. Sounds awful? Wrong! Three tables give you plenty of problems and Kirby is packed full with lots of little mini-games (the greedy thing). Luck matters a fair bit and games can take hours to play when you develop a bit of skill but all-in-all it's pretty and it's fantastic. 89%

Q*bert

Nintendo

Set on an isometric pyramid of three dimensional cubes you jump up and down to change the overall colour. A classic old Atari game and a stupid idea, but one which is enjoyable. 83%

Splitz

Imagineer

A mind warping game that's just like a slide puzzle only this time you piece together the faces of famous people. This is one totally cool challenge with absolutely loads and loads of skill required to succeed. Excellent fun. Elvis spotted in Game Boy game!!! I like it. 85%

The Humans

GAMETEK

Plenty of mind bending puzzles around as you direct a bunch of gormless neanderthals over 28 varied terrains. Well presented, tons to chew over and a very good Lemmings sideline. It might get a little bit tedious if this isn't your cup of tea. A potential rival to that classic Lemmings. 87%

Tesseract

Gametek

If you have a few hours spare and a penchant for original puzzlers then Tesseract could be right up your street. "Easy to play, difficult to master" is the claim. Well, almost. 80%

Tetris

Nintendo

You all know the score with this old bird. Move various shapes around the screen to form lines and advance to further levels. Totally addictive, but in a lego block-frustration type way mate! Tetristastic. 95%

The Real Ghostbusters

Activision

Garfield revisited should be the sub title of this adventure. The two are practically identical. For those not owning Garfield the puzzles and challenges could prove a treat. Over fifty levels adds to the challenge with each offering new traps and tricks for the unwary. 86%

Yoshi's Cookie

Nintendo

Similar to Tetris but only half as addictive. Lines of five cookies zoom in from the top and side of the screen and you have to match similar ones to make them go. The further in you get the faster they fly. Trading on the name one thinks. 76%

ROLE PLAY

Mystic Quest

NINTENDO

A hugely engrossing arcade adventure that should last a long while. There's a multitude of mental puzzles to solve and places to explore. It's a veritable role-playing super dream treat of a game. Also known as Final Fantasy Adventure. 85%

Prince Valiant

Ocean

Too little action and too much space in which to do it. Cruising around aimlessly trying to find someone to fight isn't the most thrilling of activities and you get very little reward indeed for your exertions. 65%

Robin Hood:

Prince of Thieves

Mindscape

Both combat, skill and puzzle orientated with some damn fine character interaction along with plenty of fun. This is full of riches for any role play fan and aspiring man in tights. Difficult to get into at first, true enough, but well worth the effort if you stick with it. 85%

Ultima: Runes of Virtue

A massive adventure that'll take eons to finish. Punishing but compelling as you search for the runes in the wilderness, mingling hack 'n' slay episodes with lots of brain rummaging. 79%

MISCELLANEOUS

Bart Vs the Juggernauts

Acclaim

As Bart Simpson you must master the total art of skateboarding, weightlifting and square hopping in a series of diverse and stupidly hard events requiring great skill, strength and strategy. It will take you ages in order to get it right. 85%

Battleship

Mindscape

A modernised version of the dated classic board game as you get to battle it out with a fleet of ships on a grid. The graphics are kept to a minimum and in one-player mode it's easy to lose interest. 67%

Caesar's Palace

Ocean

Whether you're a card player or a roulette fancier, even if you just like money you can beat that gambling addiction in your own home. Every whim is catered for and nicely implemented to make it worth a look. So take one. 77%

Castle Quest

Sony Imagesoft

What do you get if you cross chess with monsters, magic and a fantasy setting? Castle Quest. Skill, judgement, nerve and luck combine in an addictive and original puzzle variant. The luck element detracts from some of the skill but it's still a neat idea and top notch execution. 89%

Chessmaster

Hi tech Expressions

A stunningly accurate portable conversion of the age old classic concentration board-game with nothing omitted. Clear and concise, if you love chess, you'll love this. Recommended for all budding chessmasters. 91%

Choplifter II

JVC

Lots to see, and loads to do, and lots to get you well and truly involved in this helicopter sim cum shoot'em-up. Graphics don't amount to anything much really but playability is where it really comes good. All in all an alright shoot'em-up, nothing more, nothing less. 78%

Crash Dummies

Acclaim

A quite original and hilarious game that offers more variety than is at first apparent. There are only five easy basic levels but things really do start to hot up with even more obstacles to avoid second and third time around. Simple to get totally hooked on. The Dummies are coming to life, beware! Clunk click, every single trip! 87%

Jurassic Park

Ocean

A fairly playable collect 'em up without the action you'd expect from the film. Searching for eggs becomes a bit boring but the rest is pretty good. Graphics are well stylish but maybe could have been better. There's plenty to do and see, but it's no classic. Fans of the film should take a look. 85%

4-in-1 Fun Pak

Interplay

Solitaire, Yacht, Cribbage and Dominoes all on one legal cart. A handy way of playing those board/travel games which are popular on long journeys. Dead useful and definitely dead worth a look. 81%

Populous

Imagineer

Want to play God? You ARE God! Hours of strategy and involvement to be had as you govern the fortunes of your subjects. Engrossing. 91%

Diamik consumer products have a special one-off limited edition Super MultiMate to give away. Looking resplendent with the GB Action logo emblazoned on it, it's a must for anyone's bedroom or study.

IT'S A BEAUTY! SUPER MULTIMATE

The Super MultiMate offers you a flexible approach that has never been seen before. It's manufactured in the UK by Diamik, who have an enviable reputation as a top manufacturer of both high quality educational and office furniture.

The unit arrives on your doorstep in a flatpack. As you unwrap the product, your imagination is the only barrier. There are at least 20 designs that can be made from one unit. Retailing at £75 (excluding VAT and delivery), you can't afford not to enter this competition.

Total flexibility in modern bedroom furniture is what the Super MultiMate is all about. From computer workstations to hi-fi units, it's capable of all sorts of useful functions – additional parts can be bought to extend it too.

It went on sale on April 18, so if you want to equip your bedroom with the latest in hi-tech furniture for the price of a stamp enter now. The Super MultiMate is available in black, red or yellow – state your preferred colour on the entry form.

Good luck. All answers must be in by June 20.

PURE GAME BOY EXCITEMENT NEXT MONTH

There's gonna be more Game Boy stuff packed into next month's mag than you can shake a v-neck jumper at. So buy it, cos it'll be the best thing since cricket trousers.

SENSIBLE SOCCER

We'll be paying a visit to Manga land along with the best and most in depth reviews and previews around including Tarzan, Jeep Jamboree and Dirty Drivin'. With World Cup fever really taking a firm grip you can guarantee a closer look at some of this summer's footie releases. Ms. Pacman will be reviewed in full. Does it have the guts to become as much of a classic as the golden oldie we all know and love?

WHEN THE GOING GETS TOUGH... STAY ON YOUR WHEELS.

Ride out the punches and give out more than you take.

Just one blow in the right place will send your assailants spinning out of their saddles and skimming the tarmac at 150 mph!

Race against 14 of the most hostile bikers ever to hit the freeway.

It's dangerous - watch out for the stray steers, roadblocks and oil spills.

But that's not all... look out for the black & whites - those eagle-eyed cycle cops who'll haul you in for any highway violation... this race is illegal!
